Measures to curb F&O speculation

Context: Securities and Exchange Board of India (SEBI), the capital markets regulator, proposed several measures to reduce speculative trading in the index derivatives segment.

Types of Derivatives

- Derivatives Overview: Financial contracts deriving value from underlying assets like stocks, commodities, or currencies. Index derivatives derive value from underlying indices.
- Futures: Obligates the buyer to purchase the underlying asset at a predetermined price on a specific date.
- Options: Grants the right, but not the obligation, to trade the underlying asset at a specific price on a specific date.

TYPES OF FINANCIAL DERIVATIVES

Proposed SEBI Measures

- Minimum Contract Size: Increase the minimum contract size for index derivatives from Rs 5-10 lakh to Rs 15-20 lakh, with potential further increase to Rs 20-30 lakh.
- Upfront Collection of Option Premium: Propose brokers collect option premiums upfront from clients.
- Intraday Monitoring of Position Limits: Position limits for index derivatives should be monitored intraday by Market Infrastructure Institutions (MIIs), with a short-term fix and glide path for full implementation.
- Rationalisation of Weekly Index Products: Provide weekly options contracts on a single benchmark index, rather than daily expirations.
- Removal of Calendar Spread Benefit on Expiry Day: No margin benefit for calendar spread positions involving contracts expiring on the same day.
- Rationalisation of Options Strikes: Uniform strike price intervals up to 4% near the index price, increasing as strikes move away, with a maximum of 50 strikes introduced at contract launch.
- Increase in Margin Near Contract Expiry: Increase Extreme Loss Margin (ELM) by 3% the day before expiry and by 5% on expiry day.

Rationale for Measures

- Union Budget 2024-25: Finance Minister proposed doubling Securities Transaction Tax (STT) on F&O of securities from October 1, 2024.
- Trading Losses: In FY 2023-24, 92.50 lakh traders in NSE index derivatives incurred Rs 51,689 crore in losses; only 14.22 lakh (15%) made a net profit.
- Market Response: Proposed measures aim to mitigate irrational exuberance among retail investors in the derivatives market.

Futures	Options
A buyer has to purchase the stocks at the time of delivery irrespective of its price (even if it's going low)	A buyer can forgo the decision of buying stocks if there is a drop or may not buy at all
Requires higher margin payment than options	Has lower margin payment as compared to futures
There is unlimited profit and risks are also high	There is limited loss potential and unlimited profit due to its flexibility to purchase stocks or not at the said date
Requires no upfront cost apart from commissions	There is a premium required to pay
The underlying position in futures is much more than options	Underlying position is lower than futures

Privilege motion in Parliament

Context: Congress has filed a notice to move a privilege motion against PM Modi for posting a video on X of BJP MP Anurag Thakur's speech, which allegedly included expunged content.

- Parliamentary privileges are rights granted to Members of Parliament (MPs) to conduct parliamentary business.
- These include the right to free expression during debates without facing court proceedings.
- A breach of privilege can prompt any member to raise a motion.
- The motion can be admitted by the Rajya Sabha (RS) Chairman and referred to the Privileges Committee under Rule 203 of the RS Rules of Procedure and Conduct of Business.

Parliamentary motion

- About: Addresses breaches of parliamentary privileges by a minister.
- Breach of Parliamentary Privileges:
 - Rights and immunities for MPs to perform their duties effectively.
 - Disregarding these rights constitutes a breach of privilege, punishable by parliamentary law.
 - A motion can be moved by any member against those guilty of the breach, aimed at censuring the concerned minister.

- Role of the Speaker/Rajya Sabha (RS) Chairperson:
 - Acts as the first level of scrutiny for a privilege motion.
 - Can decide on the motion or refer it to the privileges committee.
 - If consent is given, the member can make a short statement.
- Rules Governing Privilege:
 - Governed by Rule No 222 in Chapter 20 of the Lok Sabha Rule Book and Rule 187 in Chapter 16 of the Rajya Sabha rulebook.
 - Members may raise privilege questions with the consent of the Speaker or Chairperson.
- Parliamentary Privileges:
 - Definition: Special rights, immunities, and exemptions for the two Houses of Parliament, their committees, and members.
 - Scope:
 - Includes those entitled to participate in parliamentary proceedings, such as the Attorney General of India and Union ministers.
 - Excludes the President, who has separate privileges under Article 361 of the Constitution.
 - Constitutional Provisions:
 - Article 105 specifies the right to freedom of speech in Parliament and the publication of its proceedings.
 - The Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, grants freedom from arrest and detention during parliamentary sessions and for forty days before and after.
 - Codification: Parliament has not yet enacted a special law to exhaustively codify all privileges.
- Committee on Privileges
 - The Committee of Privileges consists of 15 members in the Lok Sabha and 10 in the Rajya Sabha, nominated by the Speaker or RS Chairman.
 - In the Rajya Sabha, the Deputy Chairperson leads the committee.
 - The committee examines questions involving breaches of privilege and makes recommendations in its report.
 - The report must be presented within one month if no specific deadline is set.
 - The report must be considered by the House, and amendments can be suggested.
 - A privilege motion must address a specific, recent issue needing intervention.
 - The Speaker or RS Chairman may handle the motion directly or refer it to the committee.
- Why has the UP government introduced this amendment?
 - The amendment aims to better protect vulnerable groups, including minors, people with disabilities, women, and SC/ST community members.
 - It addresses concerns that existing penalties under the Act are insufficient to prevent and control religious conversions and mass conversions, reflecting the view of Justice Rohit Ranjan Agarwal of the Allahabad High Court.
 - The amendment also seeks to resolve issues related to Section 4 of the Act, which previously limited who could file FIRs for unlawful conversion.
- What changes does the amendment propose?
 - Expanded FIR Filing:
 - The amendment allows "any person" to file an FIR for violations under the Act, instead of just "any aggrieved person" as previously stated.
 - Under the new Bharatiya Nagarik Suraksha Sanhita, 2023 (BNSS), individuals can file FIRs at any police station, regardless of where the offence occurred.
 - Strict Bail Conditions:
 - The amendment introduces stringent bail conditions similar to those in the Prevention of Money Laundering Act, 2002, and the Unlawful Activities (Prevention) Act, 1967.
 - Accused individuals can only be granted bail if the public prosecutor is allowed to oppose it and the court is convinced of their non-guilt and non-threat while on bail.
- Enhanced Punishments:
 - The amendment increases punishments under Section 5:
 - 3-10 years imprisonment and a fine of at least Rs. 50,000 for the base offence.
 - 5-14 years imprisonment and a fine of at least Rs. 1,00,000 if the victim is a minor, a woman, from an SC or ST community, or has a physical or mental disability.
 - 7-14 years imprisonment and a fine of at least Rs. 1,00,000 for mass conversion.
 - Two new categories of offences are introduced:
 - Receiving money from foreign or illegal sources related to unlawful conversion, punishable by 7-14 years imprisonment and a fine of at least Rs. 10,00,000.
 - Causing fear, assault, or trafficking, with punishments ranging from 20 years to life imprisonment.
 - Unlawful conversion through marriage, currently punishable by up to 10 years, could see increased penalties with a minimum of 20 years imprisonment, extending to life.

Anti-conversion law in Uttar Pradesh

Context: The Uttar Pradesh Prohibition of Unlawful Conversion of Religion Act, 2021, which bans religious conversions through "unlawful" methods, was enacted by the state assembly four years ago.
